

Vitriolic Krsna's virulence malignantly ameliorates all rancour. One's rancidity to the self same Krsna is intrinsically destroyed by His caustic quality. Nevertheless, the patient's progress can be hampered by mundanity and gross attentiveness to Maya. Ennui of matter is therefore in some way laudable; although the converse attraction to spirit is by far in a way more.